my first love was spaghetti | Our First Loves

then I liked chicken wings one day, and then I liked apple pies and now I like grilled cheese—but nothing has lasted longer than spaghetti. Spaghetti has lasted since, I don't know how young it started, but until about age 18. So it has a very special place in my heart.

ABOUT

WHAT'S THIS?

BOBBY RUSH

Congressman Bobby L. Rush has spent most of his life fighting for everyday people. He believes that the constitutional promise of equality, liberty, and justice for all Americans must be upheld to make our nation strong. He has represented the First Congressional District of Illinois for almost two decades.

Israel's settlement setback | Seth Freedman

2009-06-08T14:26:25Z

Seth Freedman

> Obama's anti-settlement stance is giving the Israeli right a taste of its own medicine â€“ and its howls of protest ring hollow

President Obama's anti-settlement stance has, unsurprisingly, prompted an outpouring of wailing and teeth-gnashing among supporters of Israel's irredentist policies. His unequivocal demand for settlement expansion to come to a grinding halt has dominated headlines in both Israel and the diaspora, with many outraged by his assertion that "natural growth" of settlements be proscribed as well.

In his opponents' eyes, to call for an end to natural growth is â€“ as Charles Krauthammer put it â€“ to "strangle to death the thriving towns close to the 1949 armistice line", as though Obama's views are as insidious as those of a serial killer hellbent on leaving a trail of corpses in his wake. "It means no increase in population", Krauthammer continues. "Which means no babies. Or if you have babies, no housing for them â€“ not even within the existing town boundaries. Which means for every child born, someone has to move out. No community can survive like that".

There's no denying he has a point. If more children are born than elderly residents die in a particular settlement, a dearth of accommodation will, in time, undermine the settlement's ability to function as a living, breathing town. Its pattern of natural expansion and contraction will be utterly usurped by external pressures that will crush the life from its lungs, with potentially
